

CONDITIONS OF PEACE.

Japan Minister Gives an Outline of the General Understanding.

TERMS NOT ALL SETTLED.

Japan Thinks She Has Won the Right to Expect Much From China—Members of the Administration to Take Part of the Money Question Campaign in the Democratic Party.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Minister Kurino said, concerning the Japan-China peace understanding, announced to him by official cable from Tokyo yesterday: "The cablegram is brief and does not recite the terms, nor does it say that peace as yet has actually been agreed upon, but that an understanding has been reached between the envoys by which peace seems assured. I have no doubt from this that we will have a treaty within a few days. It undoubtedly will be concluded within the next seven days, as the armistice expires at the end of that time. Should it not be arranged by that time there probably would be no difficulty in continuing a truce, now that a peace understanding has been definitely reached. There may be some delay in arranging the details of the new Japan-China treaty, as it will cover all of the commercial interests of the two countries. One of the most essential items will be that of the tariff. Heretofore the Japanese duty has been 5 per cent on Chinese goods, and under the favored nation clause all other countries were entitled to this same rate, but with Japan's new treaties with the United States, Great Britain and other countries, all of which contain the favored nation clause, it will not longer be possible to give China the 5 per cent rate."

Did Not Want to Speculate.
Mr. Kurino said that in the absence of definite word from his government as to the terms of the peace understanding he did not wish to speculate on the terms. He regarded it as settled, however, that the island of Formosa would be permanently ceded to Japan. That much had already proceeded beyond the stage of contention. He also considered the independence of Korea as settled. This would leave the question of indemnity, of Port Arthur's occupation and of future treaty arrangements the last subjects on which Japanese plenipotentiaries may have granted some concessions. These concessions may apply to one or the other of the three terms, or to all of them. The minister is hardly prepared to believe that there will be no occupation of Port Arthur. It is possible that a term of years may be conceded instead of permanent occupation, or else that the extent of surrounding territory may be more restricted than was first contemplated. The indemnity is supposed to be 300,000,000 taels, Chinese money.

Won the Right to Expect Much.
Mr. Kurino takes a conservative view of the conclusion of peace. He shares the feeling of his countrymen that Japan has won the right to expect much as the price of peace. The minister communicated the information from Japan to the state department during the day. It was after the cabinet meeting, however, and Secretary Gresham did not communicate the news to his cabinet colleagues. Later in the day President Cleveland was informed.

Russia Will Object.
St. Petersburg, April 13.—It is stated on excellent authority that Russia has determined to make diplomatic opposition to the annexation by Japan of any portion of the Asiatic continent. The Russian army and navy in the far east are being reinforced with the view of supporting this decision. The Russian government has also resolved not to interfere in Armenia in order to have a free hand in the far east.

THE MONEY QUESTION.
Members of the Administration to Take Part in the Campaign.
WASHINGTON, April 13.—It is now certain that several members of the administration will take a prominent part in the political campaign over the money question that will be carried on in different states. The invitation of the Chicago business men to President Cleveland asking him to make an address in that city on the subject of the currency has been followed by intimations from others places to the effect that members of the cabinet were wanted to make similar addresses in order that the position of the administration may be placed upon the country in a more forcible way. The president has not yet answered the Chicago invitation, but if he finds it impossible to go, it is expected that he will decline in a letter expressing clearly his views on the subject of money.

The campaign within the Democratic party against the free coinage movement will no doubt take its keynote from the president's letter and the speeches which may be made by members of the cabinet. The campaign will be directed against the free coinage of silver to 16 to 1, and the assertion will be made that such coinage would mean silver monometallism and would be disastrous to the business interests of the country, great and small, and extend to every class and condition no matter in what pursuit engaged.

Aged Woman Commits Suicide.
JASPER, Ind., April 13.—Mrs. Catherine Schnarr, 60 years old, the mother of five children, has committed suicide by drowning in a barrel of water. She was a widow living nine miles from here.

HIGH PRICE OF MEATS.

Packers Ridicule the Idea of Combination—Scarcity of Cattle.

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—Secretary Morton's instructions regarding investigation into the causes for the prevailing high prices of meats have not disturbed the cattlemen and packers in this city. All of those interviewed in reference to the matter unite in the statement that the scarcity of cattle is the cause, and that there is not the slightest reason for the supposition that a combination exists either among the cattlemen or the packers. The packers ridicule the idea of a combination. They say that where there is such a scramble for cattle the opportunity for combination is reduced to the minimum.

Will Fight the Alleged Beef Trust.
NEW YORK, April 13.—A combination has been formed among the west side butchers of this city to fight the alleged beef combine. Already it is said about 600 of the smaller butchers have signified their willingness to join the movement, and they expect soon to be backed by the New York Retail Butchers' Protective association. Secretary John F. Kinsley of the Retail Butchers' Protective association is authority for the statement that if the present prices continue in force more than half the retail dealers in the city will be forced to go out of business.

High Price Legitimate.
St. Louis, April 13.—Representatives of the large packinghouses at the stockyards say the advance in the price of dressed beef is legitimate and caused by the advance in cattle. They claim they have been working at a disadvantage during the past six months, as the price of cattle has advanced more rapidly than the meat. Cattle commission merchants say the high price of cattle is due to their scarcity. Owing to the short crop of corn, native cattle have been cleaned up closer than in many years.

Cattle Supply Short.
CHICAGO, April 13.—Referring to the proposed investigation by Secretary Morton, Mr. P. A. Armour said yesterday: "The shortage in cattle supply at the four principal western markets thus far this year amounts to nearly 270,000 head, compared with a year ago. The shortage in pounds of dressed beef since the first of the year figures out about 175,000,000, or nearly 2,000,000 pounds per day. At the same time the price of live cattle has advanced about 2 cents per pound."

Says It Is a Combine.
BUFFALO, April 13.—The Express today publishes an interview with Christian Klink, the millionaire wholesale dealer in beef and pork of this city, in which Mr. Klink states that the present high prices in meat are directly chargeable to a combine of the large packers in the west in conjunction with the railroads.

POISONED THE FOOD.

Negro Servant Girl Seasons a Dinner With Rough on Rats.

HICKORY FLAT, Miss., April 13.—Four members of the family of Mr. J. L. Crawford, a merchant and lumber manufacturer of this place, were poisoned yesterday with rough on rats put into the dinner by a negro girl 12 years of age, who was a servant in the house. The girl had previously asked Mrs. Crawford what was in the package and when told it was poison asked if it would kill folks, and yesterday she tested the matter by putting about half the box into the food prepared for dinner. Mrs. Crawford and Walter, aged 16, are in a critical condition.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

Moulder Falls Into a Pit Where a Ladle of Liquid Metal Pours Over Him.

PHILLIPS, N. J., April 13.—Charles Scheinstein, a moulder at the Warren pipe foundry, this city, met with a terrible death yesterday afternoon. While assisting to pour a ton of moulton iron in a mould, the chain holding the ladle broke and Scheinstein was jerked into a pit with the liquid metal on top of him. His eyes were burned out and his legs and hands were almost severed from his body. He died an hour afterward.

MYSTERIOUS ASSAULT.

CHICAGO, April 13.—R. Hunter, a wealthy cattle dealer at the Union stock yards, was the victim of an assault, while sitting in his office last night, which will probably result in his death. The cause of the assault is a mystery and the assailant is unknown. Hunter was alone in his office at the time. He was struck with a brick which fractured his skull.

Mr. Hunter died at 1:30 this morning. No trace of his assailant has yet been found.

FATALLY SCALDED.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 1.—Passenger train No. 2, eastbound, which left here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Southern railway was wrecked one mile west of Afton, a small station 50 miles from here. Engineer Swartz of the engine and water tank and two baggage master Bayless of Limestone and Express Messenger Mehan are also hurt, but not seriously.

ANOTHER COUNTERFEIT.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A photographic counterfeit of the $5 issue of the "American Exchange National bank of New York city, series of 1882, check letter F, charter No. 1894, bank No. 101798, treasury No. V 1230081, portrait of Garfield, has made its appearance.

WILL USE BLOODHOUNDS.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 13.—The store of Bullit & Harris at Corydon has been robbed of $200 worth of goods. The firm sent to this city for bloodhounds to track the thieves.

THEY DIED TOGETHER.

Awful Act of a Young Man and Woman at St. Louis.

DELIBERATELY PLANNED.

Took Poison, Slashed Their Throats With a Knife and Ended by Putting Bullets Through Their Bodies—Left a Note Saying It Was Not a Love Affair—Other Suicides of a Day.

St. Louis, April 13.—Yesterday afternoon the dead bodies of a man and woman were found lying side by side on Jacob Duffy's farm, a few miles west of the city on the Walton road. Their throats were cut and their faces stained with blood. In the right hand of the man was a revolver. At the feet of the bodies was an empty box labeled "rat poison." The woman's hat, crushed and broken, was on the ground. Pinned to a ribbon was this note:

APRIL 9, 1895.
We have both decided to die together and if one or the other should happen to recover the other shall not be held responsible for the deed. We both are going to take poison, and I will do the shooting. We are not doing this on account of any love affair, but simply because we do not want to live any longer. This is all we have to say and hope there will be no trouble. We remain as ever, yours truly,
MR. LOUIS FRANK.
MISS KATE KOLB.

WERE ENGAGED.

Frank was a carpenter and Miss Kolb was a country girl. They had been engaged for over a year. Examination revealed that both had been shot just above the heart. There was trace of poison on the lips of both. They had taken no chance of surviving. After swallowing the poison they had gashed their throats with the sharp blade of a large claspknife and then the man had clinched the act by firing a bullet into the girl's breast. He ended his own life in the same manner.

Kate Kolb lived at 1837 Cherokee street. She and Frank left home together last Wednesday. The girl left a note saying they were going to kill themselves and ascribing love as the cause.

SENT A BULLET THROUGH HIS HEAD.

TACOMA, Wash., April 13.—The dead body of Paul Schulz, general land agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, was found in his bed yesterday by Henry, his Japanese servant. The shooting occurred about 11:30 o'clock in the morning. He fired a bullet into his right temple. The bullet went through his head. When found his hands still grasped the revolver. Despondency the supposed cause.

WEALTHY MAN SUICIDES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Timothy Collins, a wealthy resident of this city, hanged himself in the basement of his house yesterday. He was discovered hanging from the ceiling by his wife. Grief at his daughter's misalliance and his son's arrest for a disgraceful offense are believed to be the causes.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 13.—Jacob Lefe, aged about 28, a sectionhand of the Burlington at Alger, made an unsuccessful attempt to criminally assault Barbara Walker, the 18-year-old daughter of the section foreman. He then fatally shot the girl and killed himself.

THE OIL FLURRY.

Producers in the Ohio Field in an Excited State of Mind.

FINDLAY, O., April 13.—The oil producers of this region, which is the most active part of the Ohio petroleum field, are in an excited state of mind over the rapid rise in prices. They predict that the Standard will soon be paying $1 for the stuff they condemned as worth only 10 cents a barrel a few years ago. The announcement was made at the office of the Buckeye Pipe Line company yesterday morning that the price for the two grades of Lima oil. From all that can be learned the producers in the Lima fields have an abundance of oil in their tanks, but are declining to sell, evidently on the belief that the top notch has not yet been reached in prices. The general belief is that while Ohio crude oil may not remain as high as $1, it will command a price sufficient to greatly enhance the value of the field, which is the second largest in the world.

NEGRO RAVISHER SHOT.

CORSIKANA, Tex., April 13.—Nelson Calhoun, colored, was taken from the authorities yesterday, carried to the scene where Mrs. Hughes was ravished some days ago, and shot. Mrs. Hughes identified the negro. The verdict rendered at the inquest closed: Was carried where his hellish crime was committed and their received wounds that caused his death—a punishment certain, speedy and deserved.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICER INJURED.

GRAND FORKS, N. B., April 13.—In a riot at the door of the Salvation Army barracks last night Captain Lindeman, lady commander, was seriously and possibly fatally injured. She was jammed against the door and severely bruised while endeavoring to quell the disturbance. Two men have been arrested and there is considerable excitement over the trouble.

ROBBED THE GUEST.

LAFORTE, Ind., April 13.—Burglars entered the parsonage of the German Methodist church. Rev. C. A. Loeber of Chicago, who is the guest of Rev. Westlinger, was robbed of $100.

IMPROVEMENT COMES SLOW.

Commercial Reports Indicate Better Trade Conditions.

New York, April 13.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade today says: Progress toward better business continues, but it is slow and meets many obstacles. In speculative aspects and in wholesale demand for goods the week shows improvement. Money markets are undisturbed and a little more active. But among the chief obstacles is the anxiety of operatives to secure better wages, even while many manufacturing works are running without profit and others at the risk of loss. In a number of establishments better wages have been conceded, thus increasing the purchasing power of the people, but strikes have largely overbalanced settlements, several of importance having thrown about 12,000 workers out of employment this week. Retail trade has improved on the whole since March, as the approach of Easter brings more business, but distribution to individual consumers still lags behind purchases of jobbers and such demand for products as springs from building and other investments looking into the future. Crop prospects will greatly affect the course of trade for some months and the government report had little influence to discourage. For consumers the worst feature is the rapid advance in meats.

Failures for the week were 207 in the United States, against 218 last year, and 27 in Canada, against 34 last year.

ADVANCE IN BEEF AND PETROLEUM.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Bradstreet's today says: The feature in trade circles is found in the price movement, more particularly those for cattle, dressed beef and petroleum. Dronth, low prices and "hard times" within two weeks have resulted in a shorter supply of cattle, prospectively 30 per cent less than last year. Live cattle are $1.00 higher per 100 pounds than last year, and $1 higher than the lowest point this year. Dressed beef is 2½ cents higher than the average last year, the highest since 1885. The comparative scarcity of high grade cattle is emphasized by the fact that present quotations when made in previous periods of scarcity have never failed to bring a supply when one existed. Petroleum sold at $1.57½ on Thursday 62 cents higher than on Jan. 1, and 75 cents higher than a year ago, which is more than three times the lowest price in 1892, and the highest quotation since 1878. Reduced production and increased consumption indicate the former has been overtaken, which, with reduced stocks, produced excitement in the market.

ELUDED THE MOTHER.

Sensational Elopement of Prominent Society People.

WHEELING, April 13.—A sensational elopement occurred from Charleston yesterday afternoon. Colonel A. D. McCorde, brother of Governor McCorde, and Miss Carrie Comstock, a prominent society leader, were the principals. The courtship met with bitter opposition from Miss Comstock's mother, which resulted in the surreptitious leave-taking yesterday for Gallopolis, O., where they were married.

The affair was conducted with the utmost secrecy and the couple were safe in Ohio before their flight became known. The affair has created a profound sensation owing to the prominence of the parties.

COLONY TO SETTLE IN GEORGIA.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—J. V. Gurry and R. W. Randall, representing a Chicago syndicate, are here negotiating for 100,000 acres of land in Montgomery county, on which colonists from the west are to be settled. Nebraska, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota and Iowa are to furnish the colonists. Ex-Governor Northern of Georgia is one of the prime movers in the sales.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 13.—A new organization among negroes is being established in this state under the name of the National Equal Rights Council of the United States, and that its main purpose is securing of "equal rights" for colored people at hotels and all public places, and also the right for colored men to marry white women. Inter-marriage of whites and blacks is unlawful in this state.

CROWN POINT MURDER.

Indications That It Will Develop Into a Sensational Affair.

VICTIM WELL CONNECTED.

Former Husband Heard From—Burglars Rob the Postoffice at Montpelier. Banker Commits Suicide—Woman Drowns Herself in a Barrel of Water. Lightning Freaks—State Notes.

CROWN POINT, Ind., April 13.—The Ellwanger murder promises to develop into a sensational and peculiar affair. It is now known that the woman is a sister-in-law of an ex-county commissioner of Chicago, and it is said that she was the undivorced wife of three men. Her husband, it is thought, is either a fugitive from justice, or has himself been murdered, while the woman's two brothers are locked up, practically charged with inciting the husband to murder their sister. There are plenty of people who believe that the missing husband, Otto Ellwanger, did not murder his wife, and as many more who think he has himself been murdered. He bears the character of a particularly peaceable man. There are evidences that more than one went to the Ellwanger farm last Tuesday morning. The police have offered a reward for Ellwanger's apprehension.

FORMER HUSBAND HEARD FROM.

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—Ralph Bechtel, a former husband of Pauline Ellwanger, was seen yesterday at his home. He said he married the woman in Chicago when she was but 17 years old. They came to this city, but after living together for six years they separated and his wife returned to Chicago. Bechtel secured a divorce and the woman at once married a Chicago man. Bechtel says he has not heard from her since she married Ellwanger.

COLONY ORGANIZED.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 13.—Truman L. Stewart, a young schoolteacher who has been working on a plan for a colony of poor people, has succeeded in securing an option on 5,000 acres of land near Lawrenceburg, Tenn. The start will be made here July 1 in wagons. Fifty men, with families, have agreed to be at this point. Stewart will have the wagons and provisions ready. Some of the families are from Indianapolis.

UNION CITY MAN ELECTROCUTED.

UNION CITY, Ind., April 13.—John Reed, a young man of this city, was killed last evening by an electric light wire. It is thought that he took hold of the cable which holds the street lamp, forming a short circuit. His screams attracted attention of people passing on the street, who say his body was thrown a distance of 15 feet.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING.

ECKEITY, Ind., April 13.—During a thunder storm here a flash of lightning struck the rod on Fielding's saloon. After striking the ground it glanced off, running along the side of the house where a small safe stood. Although it merely touched the safe five pounds of metal was melted off as though it was so much butter.

BLUFFE SHEETS BY THE WHOLESALE.

BLUFFTON, Ind., April 13.—Basil Zegenus and wife of Ossian have been arrested for the theft of clothes from a line. When a search of their residence was made over 30 sheets were found, with which the couple had intended to furnish a hotel at Marion, where they expected to move in a few days.

Conductor Tierney Accepts $10,000 From the Standard Oil Company.

LOUISVILLE, April 13.—Mike Tierney, a former freight conductor on the Louisville and Nashville road, has effected a compromise with the Standard Oil company in his suit for $25,000 damages. Tierney had previously obtained two verdicts in the lower court, the first being for $25,000 and the second for $20,000. Each of these verdicts were reversed by the court of appeals, however. The Standard Oil company, through its attorneys, Messrs. Humphrey and Davis, have now compromised with Tierney for $10,000. The agreement was reached some time last week but has just become known. A few years ago Mr. Tierney, while acting as conductor on the Louisville and Nashville railroad was blown up in a naphtha explosion. He entered the car where the explosive material was stored with a lighted lantern, thinking the car only contained oil. He was led to believe this from a label on the car. He was seriously injured by the explosion and lingered between life and death for some time. He has regained his health but will be disfigured for life.

THE Democrat calls the BANNER TIMES a "jude." Now what on earth is a jude? Wonder if that is some more "English as she is writ."

A BREWERY in Kansas City has just made an assignment, and the whiskey trust properties have been ordered sold by a receiver. How the mighty are falling.

THAT sensational sheet, the Indianapolis People, has struck Greencastle, and an agency has been formed. The People is a pretty good paper to let alone.

CAR loads of Easter hats are being disposed of today by our enterprising milliners, and 'tis well. Easter comes but once a year, and the man who would refuse his better half a bonnet on that day deserves a dose of eggs that are not discolored altogether on the outside.

THE Commercial-Gazette offers this sensible financial "solution": "It does not require any great amount of science to solve the greater part of our trouble over the money question. A little common sense is all that is required. Start all the factories of the country to running on full time; light the fires under all the furnaces; open up all the mines, and the money question will speedily solve itself. The farmer has the product of his land for sale, and the workman has his labor. They are both seeking a market. Find a market for the labor of the workman and you find a market for the produce of the farms. These two markets found, there will be little or no trouble about money matters. The people care little about a single standard or a double standard. Find plenty of work and the money question will take care of itself.

THE cost of wheat delivered on board vessel for export, in the Argentine Republic, is 35 cents per bushel.—Star-Press.

And the Wilson bill changed the tariff on wheat from twenty-five cents per bushel to twenty percent ad valorem, which assisted materially in getting the $1.25 wheat promised by democracy. If it would be of benefit to the Star-Press, we might add that closed factories and wages cut to meet European competition caused a falling off last year of 70,000,000 bushels, in the home consumption figures, and the home market was thus a poor place to sell wheat. The home market is the place for the farmer now under existing conditions, and he should support the party that supports it.

THE defeat of the Cloverdale roads will make the proposed new road from Greencastle to Cloverdale through Putnamville a decidedly favorable venture. The new road will depend on three townships for a vote, and there is no doubt that it will carry. The road is one that is badly needed, and one that will prove of benefit to the city and to Cloverdale. A petition will soon be filed for an election on the matter.

On Wednesday this paper announced that Mr. Jackson Boyd was at home from Benton Harbor, Mich. The item was placed in type hurriedly just as this paper was going to press, and we guessed at Mr. Boyd's residence. It should have been Owensville, Ind. It seems funny that the two Saturday papers should have made the same bad guess. Wonder if they were inspired?

To the Greencastle advertisers who are editing considerable of the BANNER TIMES these days, we would say that we hear encouraging reports from all sides upon your editorials. They meet the popular chord and beat tariff, tin plate or taxes all hollow. The enterprising advertising editorial writer is the one that gets hold of the nimble coin these days.

SOME of the democratic papers have been commenting recently on the improving times. We suppose our democratic friends have heard the good news of the recent republican victories, and like the other people, are feeling encouraged to go ahead. The bad legislation is now all in the rear, for which everybody is thankful.

THEY WERE "CRUCIFIED."

This is the Result of the Elections Held in Cloverdale Township.

In answer to a question by the BANNER TIMES to Mr. Ader this morning as to the elections in Cloverdale township yesterday that gentleman said: "Mr. O'Brien was to send me the word 'crucified' if the roads were beaten, and I just received a message that they were crucified all right; from which report I judge they are defeated." It seems from later confirmations of the unique telegram of the surveyor to the county attorney the roads were snowed under badly. The proposition was to build six roads and one vote settled the question on the entire six. A single stamp on the yes or no square did the work and it seems the no party won by a decided majority.

It looks to an outsider like the petitioners down there bit off more than they could conveniently chew. The six roads proposed would have cost the tax payers of the township a pile of money and it appears that they decided they had better get out of the present high gravel road assessments caused by highly profitable road contracts in the past before they began paying in on more. Democracy in Putnam has in its day saddled some heavy assessments on the property holders of the county and they probably feel like waiting until better times are in store for them before building more. The vote in full is as follows as reported to the BANNER TIMES by our special correspondent:

East precinct—yes 52, no 113; west precinct—yes 102, no 112; total majority against the road 71. Our correspondent adds: A light vote was polled. There seems to be no ill feeling in this matter. We hope in the dim distant future to have good roads. However it will be a long time before we have another opportunity to vote on this subject. We will live in hopes if we die in despair.

Complaint for Slander.

Nannie Cassity has filed a suit for slander against Joseph Lee. The complainant is the wife of Oliver A. Cassity, a stepson of the defendant. The plaintiff says she has always been a person of good character and deportment, and has always been held in high esteem by her acquaintances; yet the defendant maliciously intended to ruin her fair name and reputation by uttering the following false and defamatory words: "Nannie Cassity took feathers from out of my bed, and I know she took them, there was no one else to take them," thereby meaning and charging by the use of said words to mean and charge that the plaintiff had been wilfully stealing and carrying away and concealing the said property of the said Joseph Lee.

Plaintiff says that by reason of the foregoing false, malicious and defamatory words she has been injured in good name and reputation, and has been damaged in the sum of $5000, for which she prays judgment. The parties reside in Bainbridge. Allee & Nelson represent the plaintiff.

The True Cure
Of all
Nervous Troubles

Is Found in

PURE BLOOD

Because upon the purity of the Blood depends the health of every organ and tissue of the Body. If the Blood is thin and impure there is weakness, Nervousness, That Tired Feeling, and you are in the condition which invites disease. The Blood is pure and healthy, you have sweet sleep, nerve strength, mental vigor, a good appetite, and perfect digestion.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Makes Pure Blood

That is why the Cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla are permanent. They do not rest upon the insecure support of temporary stimulant, opiate or nerve compound, but upon the solid foundation of vitalized, enriched and purified blood. Read this:

The cure of Olive Carl by Hood's Sarsaparilla has few equals in medical history. The testimonial was first published two years ago, and a late letter from her mother says Olive continues in good health and "We are satisfied her remarkable cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla was permanent." Briefly stated the case was this: "When pelled to cut her hair, as she could not bear the weight of it. At first the change for the better was very gradual; the pains seemed to be less frequent and the swelling in some of the joints subsided after using about one bottle. Then improvement was more rapid and one night she surprised us greatly by telling us that we need not prop her up in bed as we had one for several months, and next night she surprised us still more by rolling over across the bed. From that time on improvement was very rapid and she soon began to creep about the house and then to walk on crutches. Now she generally uses but one crutch, the disease having left one leg crooked, and I fear it will remain so. We feel that to Hood's Sarsaparilla we owe our child's life.

"I can't eat, I have no appetite," is the complaint of many people just now. This is because the blood is in a sluggish and impure condition. Vitalize and enrich it by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and you will soon be hungry all the time because your blood will demand proper sustenance from good food.

Nervous Dyspepsia.

"I suffered with what the doctors called nervous dyspepsia. I could hardly walk and could hardly keep anything on my stomach. I doctored for six or seven years but the different medicines did not do me any good and I grew steadily worse. I would have sick headache for three days and nights causing me such agony that it seemed as though I would rather die than live. I was told to try Hood's Sarsaparilla

Olive was 8 years old she had the whooping cough and measles, followed by intense pains in every joint in her body, like rheumatism. Physicians were puzzled, but after a consultation, pronounced the disease some form of

I enclose the photograph of my daughter and I think it is a picture of perfect health. When I think how near she was to death's door I cannot feel thankful enough for her recovery." Mrs. J. A. CARL, Reynoldsville, Pennsylvania.

The greater includes the less. Such a cure as the above must convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful blood purifier. Give it a trial this spring.

and did so. When I had finished the third bottle I was so much better that I could eat things that I had not dared to eat before for years. I have taken six bottles and feel like a different person." Mrs. SIMON DECKER, Ruggles, Pennsylvania.

"Refreshing sleep has been given me by Hood's Sarsaparilla and I now rest well and do not feel tired in the morning as I used to." JOHN CRAIG, Somerville, Mass.

Former Putnam Minister Dead.

Rev. Jesse B. Hill, a pioneer M. E. minister, is dead at Frankfort. Rev. Hill was born in Randolph county, South Carolina, Sept. 29, 1819, with a twin sister, and when a child came with his parents to Putnam county. From his youth he manifested great interest in religion. He was converted at a Methodist camp meeting, near Greencastle, under the preaching of Nathan Simpson, fifty three years ago. His first ministerial work was on the old North Salem circuit, and from there he was transferred to the Iowa City circuit, Ia., but remained there only a few months on account of ill health, returning to Indiana and joining the North Indiana conference.

N. T. DePauw's Letter.

In the Columbus Republican of yesterday is the following letter from N. T. DePauw:

NEW ALBANY, Ind., April 11, '95.
Hon. Jos. Irwin, Columbus, Indiana:
My Dear Sir:—I see in today's Indianapolis Journal a sensational article about my great uncle, Charles DePauw, who was one of the early settlers of your city and whose tomb was erected by another great uncle, N. B. DePauw, about 1839 to 1840. I have always understood that the ground on which Charles DePauw was buried belonged to him. If so the desecration of his grave by the plow is certainly unwarranted. Won't you please look into the matter for me. Probably the best thing would be to remove the remains, tomb, etc., to the graveyard. What do you think?
Yours Truly,

QUELLS REVOLT OF THE SECTIONS.

Regret That He Was Compelled to Kill Frenchmen—Joachim Murat Appears. The Sword of Conat Beaumais—Falls In Love With Josephine.

[Copyright, 1895, by John Clark Ridpath.] IX.—BEGINNING OF ORDER BY THE SWORD.

The motive of Napoleon in refusing to accept an honorable appointment in the field gives rise to speculation. His action reveals both character and policy. He deemed it not expedient to change from artillery to infantry, unless to accept an honorable command of an army. He now foresaw the tremendous opportunities about to be afforded to military genius. War was to be the order of the day, not only for France, but for all Europe. The field opening for the Army of the West was narrow. A general in that quarter must assail Frenchmen only.

In La Vendee there was no British flag—as at Toulon—to add provocation, and justify attack. Loyalty there was rampant, and General Hoche, who takes the place intended for Bonaparte, will find it hot work to reduce the insurgent Vendean to subjection. The presence of Napoleon in refusing the command lies in the question, What will become of Hoche? Moreover, the rapid changes in the military management of the Republic left little doubt in Napoleon's mind that his services would soon be sought. Finally, the striking of his name from the list of general officers was only from the list of those on active duty. Thus his rank was preserved with little injury to his future prospects.

On the 14th of September, 1794, Napoleon, partially restored to favor, was given the command of the artillery in a proposed expedition to Corsica; and this post he nominally held until March of 1795; but the period was without events. Meanwhile, finding himself with no command at all, he conceived what may be regarded as his first great project of statesmanship.

Bonaparte perceived that the ultimate enemy of the ascendancy of France was England, and that one great arm of her power was her influence in the Eastern Mediterranean countries. This might be broken, mark it well, by the agency of Turkey. The thought of the Corsican was this: If the Republican administration of France will send me to Constantinople, to organize and discipline the Turkish army, then the Ottoman power will be sufficiently strengthened and Europeanized to renounce the influence of Great Britain and, in full autonomy, to become a member of a possible coalition of European powers against the common enemy of all!

During the period of his enforced inactivity at Paris, Napoleon prepared a plan intended for the National Convention, outlining his purpose. It was a virtual petition that he be sent to Constantinople, with six or seven competent officers, to organize the military power of the Turkish empire against Great Britain in the East. Bourrienne justly remarks that if the clerk of the War Office had only written the word "granted" on Napoleon's paper, that one word would probably have changed the political fate of Europe for centuries to come. Napoleon at this time was twenty-six years of age. His scheme was worthy of Richelieu, of Talleyrand, of Metternich, of Disraeli in his ripest years.

The word "granted" was not written. The French Revolution rapidly worked out its own results, and in doing so provided a place for Bonaparte according to the higher laws of destiny. After the overthrow of the Terror the Convention went on, rather temperately, to complete the new frame of government called the "Constitution of the Year III." That instrument was adopted on the 22nd of August, 1795. It proved to be not sufficiently intense for the statesmanship of the Fanebours. The Parisian centers of agitation began to resound with denunciations of the latent aristocracy in the new plan of government. For about a month the broil was kept up by democratic pamphleteers and orators who made the basements of St. Antoine vocal and smoky with their objections.

Then the mobs began to rise in sacred right of insurrection. Several of the Forty-eighth Sections took up arms against the Convention; and that great body was imperiled by the onrushing of a counter-revolution. Matters came to a crisis in the beginning of October. The Convention had to protect itself by force or perish. Swift, swift was the work now necessary to be done. The stifled, but not extinct, Jacobinism of Paris began to bellow; and mobs from the disaffected quarters of the city came on tumultuously to assail the Convention Hall and overthrow the existing government.

never has history shown a more dramatic scene than that which now ensued. It was the 5th of October, 1795. In the peril of the hour the Convention drew to itself the troops that were still faithful to the established order. A commander was necessary. By a hasty decree this dangerous honor was conferred on Paul Francois Barras, president of the Convention. He was intrusted with the fearful responsibility of protecting the body and preserving, if possible, the half-ripe—but ripening—fruits of six years of legislative toil and travail. He had already shown himself capable in two preceding riots. This one, however, was more formidable. What he most of all needed in the emergency was a real commander, who had the courage and skill to extemporize, with all haste, a division of troops for the defense of the government. Barras arose in his place, and nominated as his lieutenant and second in command Napoleon Bonaparte. He had seen that officer at his guns before Toulon.

Napoleon himself was sitting, obscurely, in the gallery when his name was presented for the perilous duty. He accepted; and immediately there was speedy work. A young officer, whom Napoleon knew, Joachim Murat by name—whom history will presently record as the great cavalry general of the empire—was sent with all speed out to the Champ de Sablon, to whirl in the batteries stationed there. In a few hours guns were planted around the Convention Hall, and at the near-by bridges of the Seine, commanding all lines of approach; and at the breeches stood grim gunners with lighted matches.

Here, then, was business for life or death. The insurrection rolled itself in great volumes along the streets. It might be seen coming on like the sea. The Section Lepelletier leads the van. The insurgents get possession of the church of St. Roch, nearby, and then of Pont Neuf, and then bristle up face to face with the guns of the Corsican. There is not a moment's hesitation. The order to fire is quick and sharp. The Convention Hall is suddenly shaken to foundation stones with the roar of artillery. The guns are loaded with grape and canister. Horrid gaps are cut in long bloody alleys through the insurgent mob. Men—Frenchmen—are blown by hundreds to horrid death. They go back before the hail of destruction. The National Convention is saved. General Bonaparte has the honor of suppressing the last mob of the French Revolution!

Strange to note what the effect of all this was on the man himself. He was in nowise jubilant. Indeed he had hesitated for a half hour before accepting the place of general against the revolted Sections. In his report he covered up his own responsibility—as the facts gave him opportunity to do—making it appear, contrary to his wont, that not he, but others, had put down the mob. He had acted only under orders of the National Convention and General Barras! Ever through life, moreover, he looked back with regret to this hour and event of his career. Doubtless, at bottom, he was a Jacobin himself; but he was an Imperial Jacobin. The two elements in his character did not consist; the one was at war with the other.

Thus much only is certain, that Napoleon would gladly have had his great triumph over the Parisian insurgents blotted from the record. No doubt he was at heart at one with insurrection; but he was also the friend of order.

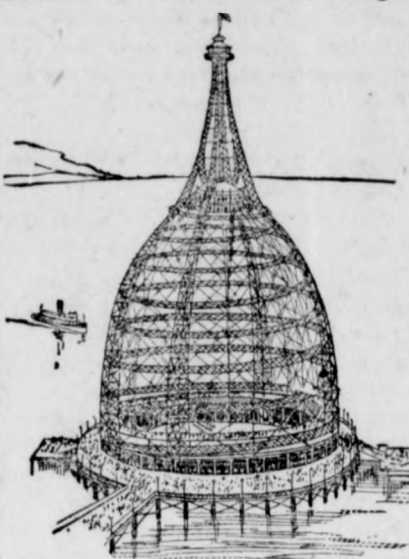

His success in restoring order in the capital may be said to have made Napoleon famous. He had already become an adviser of the Committee of Public Safety. Indeed he held that relation before his name was stricken from the list of generals in active service. Eleven days after the suppression of the Sections, he was made provisionally General of Division, and four days afterwards the "provisionally" was struck out, and he was appointed commander of the Army of the Interior, having as its central field of operations Paris itself.

Destiny reserved for the winter of 1795-96 another capital fact in the life of her devotee. Napoleon found Josephine. He first met her at the house of Barras. She belonged to the Societe des Victimes—"Society of the Victims." To enter this band of the new elite Parisiennes, one must have lost recently a near relative by the guillotine! Josephine had lost one—her husband. The Vicomte Alexandre de Beaumais had married Marie Joseph Rose Tascher, the beautiful Creole of Martinique, in December of 1779. She was then in her seventeenth year. In 1780 the Vicomte came to America with Rochambeau. Afterwards he was a deputy in the States-General, and was twice president of the National Convention. He commanded, under Custine, at Metz, in 1793, when that place was surrendered to the Germans. To surrender was death. He was haled to trial, condemned and guillotined only five days before the collapse of the Terror. When Robespierre fell, the Societe des Victimes was formed. The light creatures took wing like butterflies from the blood-pools of the Place de la Revolution. They still were crepe on their arms when they began to dance anew in Greek sandals and chignons and classical scarfs girdled at the waist. Napoleon saw one of them, and admired and loved.

So he told Bourrienne, while pointing out Josephine one evening at a fashionable cafe. There was a swift courtship. A story goes that Eugene Beaumais went to Napoleon to recover his father the Vicomte's sword, which had been taken at the disarmament of the Sections. The youth got the sword, kissed it, won the General's sympathy—and Madame de Beaumais came to thank her benefactor. If this happened, she knew him already; and he knew her. The marriage occurred on the 9th of March, 1796. The disparity of ages was six years and two months. To close this chasm, the marriage certificates dated her birth forward four years, and antedated his by nineteen months. Documents must conform to the exigencies of the great!

Boston's Proposed Skyscraper.
The greatest amusement enterprise now under consideration in the United States is the Harriman tower and amphitheater which Boston capitalists are talking of erecting at the end of the Marine park pier, City Point, South Boston. An immense dome shaped structure of steel is to be built 300 feet into the air, and from the top of the dome a tower will rise 200 feet farther toward the clouds, making the entire height of the novel structure 500 feet. Spiral railways, a mammoth amphitheater for sports, a "midway" 300 feet in the air and an observatory to crown all are among the attractions.

Helped Capture Mason and Slidell.
Rear Admiral Greer, United States navy, who was recently retired, was a prominent actor in one of the most sensational incidents of the war. He was one of the two lieutenants who, acting under orders from Captain Charles ish churchyard her father, mother and sister are buried. Robert Barrett Browning, Mrs. Browning's son, still lives in the Rezzonico palace his father bought in Venice, and his idea of a fitting memorial for his talented mother is more poetical than that of the good people of Ledbury. He has converted a little chapel in the old palace into a memorial room, where a Venetian lamp is kept burning night and day.

A Memorial to Mrs. Browning.

Inventor of the Whaleback.
Alexander McDougall is the name of the man who invented the now famous "whaleback" type of vessel.

He was born in Scotland and came to America in his youth. In 1882 he settled in Duluth and engaged in business as a shipping agent. He worked many years on his invention, but found it difficult to interest any one in his scheme. Indeed everybody laughed at it. At last, however, he got a little company organized to build a whaleback, his idea first being to construct barges only. The first craft was the famous 101, and though it was a queer looking boat it was a success in that it would carry more freight than any other craft of the same cost. At the present time there are more than 40 whalebacks afloat on the lakes and the Atlantic, and Mr. McDougall and all who went in with him have won great wealth.

In the Spring

Nearly everybody needs a good medicine. The impurities which have accumulated in the blood during the cold months must be expelled, or when the mild days come, and the effect of bracing air is lost, the body is liable to be overcome by debility or some serious disease. The remarkable success achieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the many words of praise it has received, make it worthy your confidence. We ask you to give this medicine a trial. We are sure it will do you good. Read the testimonials published in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla, all from reliable, grateful people. They tell the story.
